Marion,

Regarding DD3, your data does indeed look interesting as you showed me and on your poster. Although an open reading frame would be nice, the tissue specificity of expression is sufficient to warrant further study. Please let me know what I can do to be of assistance, and whether there is any info we could provide regarding setting up the RT-PCR in the blood, although I have complete confidence that such help will be unnecessary. Again whatever you decide regarding publication and patenting etc. is fine with me.

Keep in touch.

Fond best wishes,
Bill
